

On this day in 1877, the phonograph was invented. This machine allowed people to listen to phonograph records. How do you think listening to these records was different than listening to today's CDs? What may be the advantages and disadvantages of each type of machine?